Shanghai Battle Starts in South

Drive 50 Miles From City

Is Start of Huge Struggle

SHANGHAI, May 5.—(UP)—The Shanghai garrison headquarters threw a division of reinforcements into the battle for Kashing today to stem a Communist drive up the railroad toward Shanghai's southwest defenses.

The Nationalist troops dug in on a short, semi-circular defense line five miles west of Kashing, which is 50 miles southwest of Shanghai to meet the Communist assault.

FIRING IS HEARD
Telephone reports from Kashing said the sound of battle from the north and west.

Troops on Shanghai's western perimeter, 12 miles from downtown, began shelling down the river in the swanky Hungsiao region where the Communist forces are believed to have set up blockhouses.

These defenses apparently were intended to help stop the Communist advance on the southwest approaches to the city, and through the Kashing line.

The troops also tore down bamboo fences connecting the line into shaggy pointed stakes. These were used to obstruct the advance of the tanks and heavy vehicles are not allowed to use the thoroughfares to paved.

City council now has the power under the city charter to limit traffic using designated streets.

REPORT READY MAY 17
Consensus of those favoring the new method paving was that under the Nationalist's present position, the present rate of road paving may be insufficient to meet the needs of the city.

A. L. Burrows, president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, declined to comment on the proposal to require into the policy, limited the city affairs committee to report on the matter by May 17.

Several other members of the city affairs committee declined comment until they have had time to be submitted by the date.

Airport Hit By Cyclone
hub were carried to a height of 1,000 feet by the cyclone, which centered at the east end of the hangar doors.

Bill Cottrill was reminded of a similar occurrence which took place near Western Australia, on the field, three years ago. At that time a small craft was lifted after the hangar, and placed down on the other side, but on top of another parked aircraft.

Captain James Bell, airport manager, said that each year aircraft are moved about the ground and moved over by "thermal drafts," a modification of the weather.

LIKELY AT LETHBRIDGE
Smith stated that hot-and-cold air conditions at Lethbridge make the winter a more comfortable one in that area, frequently picking up wind-blown debris and sundry farm equipment.

The meteorologist classes the air as "barometric" as "heat-driven" small cyclone, big cyclone and tornado. The latter is the one to look out for, he says.

"What happens is the ground gets hot, sends off warm thermal waves which meet the colder upper air and cause a disturbance," he said. "When these take the form of a rotating wind, you get a twister."

RCAF and U.S. Planes Hunt Missing Pair

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 5.—(UP)—Excellent flying weather aided Royal Canadian Air Force and American pilots today in their combined search for two persons, missing with their light plane in the interior of British Columbia since Monday.

Canadian Air Force planes took off at dawn for the Penitence area to resume their search for the two-passenger, single-engine plane in which pilot Bill Grant and student Sheila Curren had been reported crashed while en route from Penitence to Vancouver.

ENTER SEARCH
Planes from United States Coast Guard stations at Port Angeles and Seattle, and from the U.S. Air Force at McLeod Field entered the search yesterday and continued sweeps to the interior of the province.

An RCAF Dakota, flown by Pilot Lt. J. McDowell of Vancouver, flew over the search area for four hours last night but McDowell said he was unable to find the plane.

McDowell reported spotting two fires at Whilpaw Creek, 15 miles southwest of Penitence, but ground searchers confirmed that they were only bush fires and not signals.

Other searchers in a radio-equipped Air Force rescue truck were unable to find the plane.

New Hay Fever Cure Found by U.S. Doctors

NEW YORK, May 5.—(UP)—The wheezing and sneezing season has come again and a group of doctors reported today a new drug particularly effective against hay fever.

The medical group, representing the division of allergy of the department of medicine, Long Island College hospital, administered the drug—neomagan— to 141 patients suffering from various allergic diseases. In the overall picture, 61 per cent of the cases had good results.

They conclude that even though neomagan works well in hay fever cases, the best cure still is to find what is causing the allergy— was obtained in 47 cases, with no side effects.

Reporting in the New York State Journal of Medicine, Dr. Emanuel Schwartz and his associates said that of 96 cases of hay fever, relief was obtained in 47 cases, with no side effects.

Alberta Will Join New Pension Rate

Old Age Albertans Will Now Receive Up To $50

Alberta and Manitoba have indicated willingness to sign an agreement with the federal government providing for an increase in old-age pensions in those provinces, health minister Martin announced in Ottawa today.

The increase, from $30 to $40 a month in basic old age and old age pensions, was provided for by an amendment to the Federal Old Age Pensions Act last week.

Agreement by the provinces to pass enabling legislation is necessary for the new rates to go into effect, since the provinces pay 20 per cent of the pension and administrative costs.

The increase would boost Alberta pensions to $40 a month as the government now pays an additional $10, making it the highest in Canada.

Mr. Martin said reports that Ontario would also enter an agreement had been received "with great satisfaction."

He has been received from other provinces that the matter is being actively considered and would be expected shortly as to when they propose to make effective the new provisions of the federal act," he added.

Shortly before press time today, Dr. Cross, Alberta government minister of health, announced the province's agreement to make the June old age pensions $40 a month to be set following a complete review of files (believed to be the same as the $10 now being paid as the rate of the federal pension).

Additional cash to the provincial government under the new scheme is expected to reach close to $100,000, authorities say.

Lightning Bolts Hit 3 Two Hills Homes

TWO HILLS, May 5. — Lightning struck the farm home of John Mandrusiak 20 miles east of here during the electrical storm Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Mandrusiak who was in the house at the time escaped serious injury when she was knocked down by the impact which burnt her garments and set fire to the building.

Three children in the house were not in the path of the bolt and escaped serious injury. The 12-year-old boy, Mandrak, received treatment for burns and shock at the Two Mills Hospital. The damage to the house is quite extensive. In that all the windows were broken, the roof stripped and a radio completely demolished. A pet dog was killed.

Lightning also struck the home of Nick Bupka four miles west of WETASKIWIN, May 3.—On a tour of Alberta and the northwestern United States that will take them 2,400 miles a group from Namrata Christian Leadership training school visited Wetaskiwin.

At United Church in the evening, before a large audience the students put on a short program. A camp fire scene was the opening number with the young people singing a group of songs. Rev H. A. McLaren, in whose charge the students are travelling and who is principal of the school, outlined the purposes for which it was established and the work that it is now carrying on.

Midweek meanderings and what's your good thing in Saturday's Run for the Roses? ... West coast reports have it that Anna Stukas got himself a three-year contract at $6,000 per year he agreed to coach the local entry in the Western Football Conference ... That ain't the way we heard it ... Things have been tough all over for Cliff Ehre, Regina Caps manager, ever since he arrived in the east with his gang of 'rebels' ... His initial brush with Tommy Gorman, owner of the Ottawa Senators and the Ottawa Auditorium, scene of the first three games of the current Allan-cup what-is-it, had to do with the number of tickets the western champions were entitled to per game ... Ehre put in a bid for 250, Gorman offered eventually they got together and agreed on 150 ... Add believe-it-or-not dept.: Jack Hogan scored a hole-in-one on a California course the other afternoon ... He has but one arm.

New York Rangers, who have been angling for the services of Al MacDougall for sometime, also are trying to get his Regina teammate, 'Chuck' McCulloch, on the line. The New Yorkers once 'owned' the aggressive McCulloch.

Remember Glen Treseder?

Ventura got away to a flying start in the California State league pennant chase, coping off three wins in a row ... One of the hurries who tumbled in the opening games was Glen Treseder, last season with Cuba of the Renfrew Park set ... For a game who stopped the show in last autumn's Grey cup final 'Chuck' Anderson, hefty ex-Calgary Stampeder center, is having his grief landing a job on this side of the line for the 1949 grid jaunt ... Latest aggregation to cold-shoulder the one-time Ohio State star is Ottawa Roughriders, who ran second to Kansas in the doming week largely, it was reported, because of Anderson's magnificent defensive display ... Whatever became of Alabama Pitts? ... Wilson Dunn, starter on the prairie racing circuit, is expected in town almost hourly and will get going in the morning ... The personable Dunn's opening shot will be aimed at teaching a raft of two-year olds to get out of the gate in a hurry.

Fresno has a Pacific Coast Hockey league and it's entirely likely that a group out of Santa Barbara will take over the franchise. Owner of the Fresno rink elected to lock out the hockeyists in the face of heavier box-office play on the part of roller-skating fanatics.

Maryland, My Maryland

It will be off to Baltimore early Saturday for Bud Foley, his wife and young son ... The captain of the 1937-38 EAC juniors has been visiting old haunts since coming away on a holiday following the close of play in the American Hockey league ... Foley, a member of the Washington Lions in the AHL, has made his home in Baltimore for the past few years ... Billy Dee, Maple Leaf midge star who was the subject of considerable attention on the part of at least four NHL clubs when he turned 16 years of age last month, has signed a 'B' form with New York Rangers ... Different from the much censured 'C' form this particular agreement binds the youthful Dee to the New Yorkers—only if he eventually decides to turn professional ... Whatever about the minor league clubs and their representatives to the annual meeting of the Western Canada Junior Hockey loop, scheduled for later this month ... All four athletic clubs have filed applications for a franchise for next season.

The word still goes that Ken Watson, recent winner of the Gene Carrigan Memorial trophy for junior athletic prowess, will line up with Lethbridge with which to line up.

Canuck Athletes Get Lengthy V. Z. Visit

MONTREAL, May 5.—(CP)—If present plans materialize, 62 of Canada's best athletes will spend a good part of next winter in the balmy winter season of New Zealand.

They will have a boat trip to nearly three weeks on their way to the 1950 British Empire games. At least they are so enticed by New Zealand and want to remain in the area six weeks or so, they will return to Canada by air.

J. W. Davies, honorary secretary of the British Empire association of Canada, already up to his neck in pre-game work, told of the plans yesterday.

"We are aiming at 62 athletes and 20 officials—if we raise sufficient funds," he said. "That number does not include the laws and regulations which will be responsible for its own expenses except for comparatively minor things such as uniforms. The law governing team travel will number seven players and one official."

This summer's trials in Canada for the various events will determine the make-up of the entire Canadian contingent. All trials must be completed before next Oct. 31.

The team and officials will sail from Vancouver Dec. 22 aboard the Ararat and arrive in Auckland, site of the games, Jan. 10.

There will be plenty of time for the athletes to train and become acclimatized before the games open Feb. 4.

The entire cost per athlete for the games—transportation, meals, uniforms, general administration and what have you—is figured at more than $1,000 by the British Empire association, which is a lot of money, either Canadian or New Zealand.

Only Refs Have Edge In Cup Set

Work In Robust Memorial Trials Well Commended

WINNIPEG, May 5.—(CP)—The referees appear to be the only persons holding an edge so far in the Memorial cup final. They've managed to throw the players of both Montreal Royals and Brandon Wheat Kings.

Neither of the two clubs, resting up yesterday in preparation for the fourth game tonight of their best-of-seven Memorial junior hockey final, can boast of any edge, either in games won or goals scored.

Montreal took the opener by a 3-2 count, Brandon won the second by a similar score, and Tuesday night the two teams played to a 3-3 draw on Brandon ice. Fourth game is scheduled for Winnipeg—and the only true thing about this encounter is a capacity crowd.

In Tuesday's game Montreal had the upper hand in the opening period, taking a 1-0 lead, Brandon exploded with a three-goal barrage in the second, then Toronto came back with a pair in the third to even the tie. The game ended in a 3-3 draw. The series is practically a 50-50 proposition.

Campanella Gets Major Headlines

NEW YORK, May 5.—Roy Campanella, a Negro catcher who reached the majors with little advance publicity, is stealing the headlines from Jackie Robinson, Satchel Paige and Larry Doby—the three men who have established themselves as top-ranking stars since baseball opened its doors to the Negro.

When Campanella joined Brooklyn Dodgers last season his future looked none too bright. He was underdog Bruce Edwards, one of the best receivers in the business, who had just caught most of the games for a pennant-winning club.

Infield troubles forced the Dodgers to shift Edwards to third base for nearly half the 1948 season and Campanella pressed into service, completed a modest 20th birthday, driving in 45 runs. But when an arm injury kept Edwards out of this year's opening game, the 27-year-old Negro started to roll.

Currently he's leading National league hitters with 669 and has his injury at the Recreation building last night after second session of the Recreation Club baseball umpiring school being conducted by John Doherty. Final class is tonight at 8 o'clock.

It was decided that in view of the large turn out at the school there would be the 27th night, that the session at which rules will be discussed in a thorough fashion would be held May 30 and 31. It also is planned to have a refresher session once a month through the season.

Attendance Jumps At Umpire School

Washington Senators club will work out tonight at Clarke Stadium in preparation for their game Saturday against Oliver St. Paul. All players are asked to be on hand as strip will be handed out.

Chicago rallies to squeeze out a 4-3 win over the Cubs for the National league title.

For the second time in two years the Chicago Cubs have finished strongly to edge St. Louis Cardinals 7-5. Ken Tinkler pitched a Cardinal rally in the ninth after three runs had been scored to save the game for starter Ken Hurlbut.

Detroit's Viper Trucks kept pace with the Tigers in the western department by piling a three-hitter as the Tigers beat the Red Sox 5-1.

Cleveland Indians held second place, a four percentage point edge of the Tigers, by edging Philadelphia Athletics 4-3. Southpaw Gene Bearden won his third straight with a five-hitter.

Washington Senators outslugged Chicago White Sox for the second consecutive day when Mark Christman's three-run homer in the ninth gave them an 8-7 triumph by dominating St. Louis Browns 15-4 behind a 15-hit attack. It was Vic Rascher's fourth victory without a loss.

Comrie Scores Lone Run In Fastball Twin Bill

Joyce Comrie, second-base performer with Mortons of the Senior Girls Fastball loop, counted one of the 'biggest' runs in the history of Kingsway park as the hit came off the season locally last night.

The Comrie hit sufficed to give Mortons a 1-0 win at the expense of Murray Saldman's Walk-Rite crew in the opening game of a two-bill served up by the fans.

MEN WENT RUNLESS
Adding further to the Comrie four of the home team, the fact that the provincial champion Legionnaires and Precision Machines of the Men's circuit battled to a 4-0 sawoff in the second contest. In other words there were 14 innings of diamond warfare (each encounter was of seven innings duration) only the Mortons' keystone could boast a run.

A second inning truce by Miss Comrie set the stage for the big run. She scored a minute later when Mary Zarco grounded out to second, Ruth Hayne was pitching for Walkies at the time.

In the eighth inning right-hander Al Young took on Bill Onychuk and Ted Kneiblauch, the pair of Precision Machines' turning back 13 of the Legionnaires' strikes over the seven inning route.

Legionnaires had the best chance to break the scoreless tie at the third inning but its course.

LEGION CAME CLOSE
Young could not be kept from remaining at first while Emory Long and Bill Stevenson struck out in turn. A wild pitch enabled the one checker to advance to second and he went on to left field and home.

Ralph Hansch's single. However, Onychuk forced catcher Al Miller to try out to left field and the strike was ended.

Clampitt's action continues to night. Newwood and Sparling meet at 7:15 in the first game of a doubleheader, with Singers and Anselva scheduled to hook up in the second contest.

Intermediate Girls Fastball Loop Set
The team Intermediate Girls' Fastball league will open its schedule May 11 at Clarke Stadium and play every Wednesday night thereafter. It was decided to have a refresher session once a month through the season.

Leo Leblanc was returned as president of the circuit and Florence Burrows a secretary-treasurer.

With all three teams acting action on their three stadium diamonds each Wednesday, league officials look for competition to be keen.

Woodwards, Woolworth, Metro, Spurling Davis, Cline and Leavers are the teams in the league.

EAC Ball Workout
EAC junior baseball team will work out tonight at Municipal Golf course diamond at 6 o'clock. Budd Williamson will be in charge of the practice and all players are asked to be on hand.

Scena Tennis
Scena Tennis club members will be opened to members' recreation building last night after second session of the Recreation Club baseball umpiring school being conducted by John Doherty. Final class is tonight at 8 o'clock.

Rocky Seeks Clear Name

CHICAGO, May 5.—(AP)—Rocky Graziano, Brooklyn's bad boy of boxing yesterday made an impassioned plea for reinstatement before the Illinois State Athletic commission. The commission will announce its decision later.

Graziano, who won the world's middleweight championship from Tony Zale, and then lost it, back to him, has been barred in Illinois since eight months after he knocked out Zale in July 1947.

Frank J. Madonia, Graziano's Chicago lawyer, attacked the legality of the rule barring Graziano. The rule, which Madonia said was aimed at Graziano, refuses licenses to boxers who had been given dishonorable discharge from the armed forces. The previous commission, headed by Sheldon Clark, barred Graziano without a hearing.

Chairman Joseph Triner said the commission's decision would not be announced until the evidence had been studied. It may be two months before the commission approves or rejects Graziano's plea for reinstatement of his boxing license.

Story-Book Dragons Can Still Be Found

Almost all children have favorite stories. And almost all their favorite stories are about big dragons and knights and beautiful princesses.

But did you know there are dragons really living today?

Well there are! Maybe today's dragons aren't as big as they used to be and maybe they don't breathe fire and the world doesn't shake when they walk.

PRETEND YOU ARE TINY

But if you go down to the wet muddy shores of land beside a river or a lake some day, sit down and imagine you're only the size of a tiny grain of sand, then you'll see a dragon.

For all of after you've made up your mind that you're very very tiny, you'll see great tall green trees and smooth rocky mountains instead of pebbles and grass.

The sky will seem a hundred times further away and each tiny speck will be as large as the point of an arrow.

And then if you sit there long enough you'll hear a slithering and a slinking in the trees behind you and out will come a dragon.

But don't forget in your amazement to keep remembering how tiny you are. Because if you do forget you'll say "block that's not a dragon, it's only a little old lizard."

Then the dragon will fade away and the trees will be grass again and you'll just be an ordinary full-size boy or girl.

EXCITING ADVENTURE

No keep pretending and you'll have a most exciting adventure any little Tawasi ever had.

There'll be a whole new playground for you, with all the great animals and strange forests that you've seen in colored fairy tale picture books.

You might even find some fairies. I don't know adults have a hard time imagining even as small as children.

Try to imagine a dragon some time soon. And then the next time you hear your favorite story it won't be just a story any more.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

Reddy Fox was a little early. He was almost but not quite an hour before shadow-time. He was early purposely. He wanted to be sure that Big Tom and Mrs. Gobbler should have no excuse this time as soon as he saw them on their perch in the tall tree he quickened his steps. He smiles as he looked up at them, really a really a really grin, though he didn't know it. He meant it for an innocent smile.

"Here I am," said he, "I hope I haven't kept you waiting. He knew he hadn't, of course. He said that just to make it sound as if he had no thought but the convenience of the Gobbler's.

Not at all, neighbor Fox," replied Big Tom. "It is a pleasure to meet with one who believes in promptness and lives up to it. 'Thank you,' replied Reddy. 'I believe in always being on time. It is the only way of making sure of things in this world. Are you and Mrs. Gobbler ready to go with me for these sweet acorns? I don't want to hurry you, but I recall what you said about wanting to be on your roost by shadow-time, and I know that those acorns are going to taste so good that an hour will be all too short a time for you.'

BIG TOM APOLOGIZED

"I'm sorry," said Big Tom, in a hesitating way, as if he were a little embarrassed. "The fact is, Reddy Fox, we are so full of sweet acorns like blunderbuss that we couldn't eat another one."

"What?" cried Reddy sharply. Big Tom nodded.

"It's a fact," said he. "You see, we got to thinking about sweet acorns after you left until we couldn't stand it. We just couldn't stand it. So we took a little trip, and you know I think that we must have found that very hollow you told us about. Anyway, there were plenty of sweet acorns there. They were the finest acorns I have tasted for a long time, and we had a real treat, didn't we, my dear?"

Big Tom turned to Mrs. Gobbler as he said this and Mrs. Gobbler nodded.

"We had only just returned when we saw you coming," continued Big Tom, "and we want to thank you, Reddy Fox, for telling us about those acorns. That's what I call true neighborliness. I hope that some day we can do something just as nice for you."

Reddy Fox had listened to this with feelings in which surprise and disappointment had mingled with envy, and finally a suspicion that grew to a certainty that all this time Big Tom and Mrs. Gobbler had been through his seeming friendships and had known just what he was trying to do. The grin which he had meant to be friendly turned to an ugly snarl, which showed all his teeth, and his eyes flashed with rage.

"You think you're smart, don't you?" he barked.

BIG TOM GRINNED

"Not smart, Reddy Fox. Not really smart, but just a little bit smarter than you," replied Big Tom, grinning more than ever. "You are the first thing Mrs. Gobbler and I learned when we were little was this: Never trust a fox. And the second thing was: Never put faith in a Gobbler. We have known foxes

As sure as my name is Reddy Fox, I'll get you."

"All our lives, and so you didn't fool for as much as a minute. Just the same, we are much obliged to you for telling us about that fine dust bath and those sweet acorns, and I hope there will be no hard feelings on your part. Reddy glared up at Big Tom and ground his teeth.

"I'll get you. As sure as my name is Reddy Fox, I'll get you," he snarled. He was showing his true self.

Combines Not Needed in U.S.

Ottawa, May 5.—(CP)—The labor department announced today that there is not expected to be any demand this year for Canadian combines to help in harvesting the United States grain crop.

The announcement follows a meeting at Omaha, Nebraska April 28-29 at which grain-producing states indicated that unless an emergency arose there would be no need for Canadian combine operation. In recent years there has been a shortage of combines in those states resulting in regular movement of Canadian machines during the harvest season. This year the major problem seems to be in keeping the movement of U.S. combines down to the number required to harvest the crop.

on the TOWN

By J. D.

I don't know where fellow columnist Harold L. Weir "learned" his drinking but I think he's all wet. For the most part I heartily approve of his article in Today's Bulletin entitled, "Psychology of the Drinker."

Weir thinks a couple more liquor stores staying open until 11 o'clock at night would be a good thing for Edmonton. I think so too.

Harold also gets my vote when he writes: "Any discussion about the sale of liquor is bound to be poignantly controversial because those who are the most articulate in the matter are those who know nothing at all about liquor (prohibitionists) or those who know far too much (the inebriates)."

That far in the article, friend Weir was as very sensible I feel like buying him a drink. But then he starts "talking" like a man who has not had just one drink but several. "Inebriates have lately been popularizing the idea, which is largely false, that alcoholism is a disease and should be treated in a hospital."

OFF THE TRACK

I think that's where he goes off the track but I'd even let that crack pass if he didn't then proceed to try and establish himself as an expert.

"My dictionary defines 'expert' as 'skilled through practice or experience.'"

Amazingly, all columnist Weir has to offer in the way of qualification is this: "As a partially returned tourist to whose rural appetites has been added a yearning for righteousness, I feel that I speak not only with the voice of experience but with the voice of respectability, which is a pretty deadly thing."

It may well be that Weir is respectable. I wouldn't know how to go about proving he isn't respectable and don't propose to try. But I'll come right out and declare without fear of successful contradiction that he has failed miserably to establish himself as a drinking "expert."

HIS NO EXPERT

If Harold L. were truly "skilled" through practice and experience, he would never dare to sniff disdainfully at the modern-day drinking data for his readers.

Had he ever attained that degree of "expertise" that fits a fellow to a psychopathic ward, he'd be the last to come to me to back the proposal.

Does Weir mean to say that it isn't possible to get sick enough after a bout with old John Barleycorn to end up in hospital?

Let him try to tell that to the owner of the real "experts," the chamber members of the "Lost Weekend" brigade.

Why didn't Weir talk to the right people before he wrote that article? Why didn't he talk to me?

I would have told him about the interesting talk I had with that big green lizard right in front of the post office.

I would have told him that the lizard really didn't bother me as much as the bunch of dwarfs with long shaggy beards who rushed at me from the doorway of the CPK building as I crawled slowly westward.

And what would "expert" Weir have done when the leader of the dwarfs bowed and said: "Pardon me Mac but I'm Little Bo Peep. Have you seen my sheep in your travels?"

If Weir knew of such things at first hand would he still maintain that no Alky ever rates the peace and quiet of a white-washed yard for a few days?

Drop in and see me Harold before you do another "expert" article on the ravages of the Demon Rum.

Legion Adamant Over U.S. Workers in City

Charge that Americans are holding many unskilled jobs in the Edmonton oil fields that could be filled by Canadians was reiterated today by Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams of Edmonton Montgomery Branch of the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Williams re-opened the controversy over American workers in the oil fields after a personal survey visit to Devon yesterday where he talked with oil company officials.

He made the trip following publication of an interview with Fred J. White, prairie regional superintendent for the National Employment Service.

Mr. White was quoted as saying there is no present cause for alarm over the number of Americans working in Alberta oil fields. The employment service official said many Americans have come in as specialists because Canada cannot supply a sufficient number of trained oil workers now.

Mr. Williams said his investigation yesterday showed conclusively that Mr. White's picture of the situation is incorrect. Said Williams:

But the young pianists who were followed by Zonia Tharbut, Miss Brine, with 86 and 84 marks, was only entrant in the piano class for 29 years and under. Mr. Cludery thought she gave a straightforward performance.

Adjudicator Lawrence Cludery adjourned piano classes to his liking. On an average, 20 marks given last night were higher than those for other groups.

Second in the Bach was Lillian Kester who was awarded 81. The adjudicator liked her beautiful phrasing and wide variety of tone color.

Albert Picard with 84 was second in Beethoven over 18 class. Margaret Ann Brine with 86 marks was first in the Beethoven class for pianists under 18. She here. The board will recommend amendments to trainings in the bricklaying, glazing, painting and decorating, plumbing, steam fitting and metal trades are being considered. Recommendations will be forwarded to the minister of industry and labor.

Under discussion are apprenticeship regulations for motor mechanics. The conference will continue tomorrow.

Later in the day, the minister of industry and labor, said today that attempts had failed.

Personnel of the arbitration board which will study the dispute will be named Monday, he said.

Points of disagreement deal chiefly with wages in the recently opened plant.

11-Year Old City Pianist Wins Praise

By FRANCES GEDDES
Eleven-year old Shirley Green yesterday gave the best piano playing adjudicator Lawrence Cludney his hardest yet at the Edmonton Musical Festival.

With 83 marks, Shirley swept away with first place in the piano class for kiddies 11 and under.

Mr. Cludney was enthusiastic about her beautiful quality of tone, her delicately-phrased phrasing and her sensitivity of touch in Mozart playing.

Others in the class didn't manage to keep up with her beautiful playing, the adjudicator said. He gave Nancy Brine second place with 83 marks and Jeanette Hawrak, third with 81.

Mr. Cludney termed Lorain Baynard a "very promising player" and gave her 81 marks and first place in the piano class for teenagers and under. He thought she was really musical and had good feeling in her playing.

SECOND PLACE
Second place with 83 marks went to Patricia J. Naubert. The adjudicator complimented her on her colorful and imaginative playing. Tied for third place were Grace Gordon and Sumner Laidlaw.

These entrants in the violin class for those 12 and under each had certain qualities as distinct from the others. Mr. Cludney

He thought the playing in Handel's Andante Larghetto lacked breadth in each case but he thought the tone quality was generally good.

Theodore Pader was given first place with 83 marks. Mr. Cludney liked his good style in John Ireland's Bagatelle.

Robert Chranowski and Kenneth Smith tied for second place with 82 marks each.

ALL GOOD
The adjudicator thought phrasing of both violinists quite good and he liked the refinement of tone in the former's case.

Special attraction at the festival tonight will be the performance at McLaughlin Church at 8 p.m. by the RCMP Band of North West Air Corps. Festival under the direction of W. O. Carl Friberg.

The band has recently returned from Winnipeg where it competed successfully in the Manitoba Musical Festival, winning the western band championship with a very high mark.

Other features of the evening will be open back and beethoven piano duos.

CITY MAN SEEKS $2,589 IN DAMAGE

Damages totalling $2,589 are sought in a supreme court action filed yesterday by the law firm of W. Buchanan and Campbell on behalf of Michael A. Keely, 10028 86 avenue.

Defendant to the action is Victor F. Bruyer, Edmonton.

Action arises out of an accident on December 22 last at the intersection of 99 street and 93 avenue.

It is alleged that Bruyer negligently operated his motor car at the intersection striking the plaintiff who was riding a motor cycle.

Plaintiff suffered a broken nose, injuries to knee, and numerous lacerations.

Bible Society Group Changes Old Policy

Thirty-year old policy of supervisory work by the Western Colportage Committee of the British and Foreign Bible Society was abandoned following a meeting here yesterday.

The committee was dissolved and each district or auxiliary now will supervise the work of its own colporteurs. There are nine in western Canada.

Activities of the committee were wound up yesterday with a supper meeting at Metropolitan United church at which Rev. W. H. Hudepeth, general secretary of the Bible Society in Canada was guest speaker.

He anticipated the southern drive of the Communists in China, and the speaker who returned recently after spending 38 years in the Orient, "and we distributed bibles in deserts and private homes. Even though the people cannot conduct services in the churches under communist regimentation, Christianity will not be lost."

Since 1860 bibles have been printed in the Chinese language and distributed.

Reports of western colporteurs were received at the evening meeting and the general consensus of opinion was that it was surprising the number of people who have never owned a bible. George Elias of North Saskatchewan reported that out of 900 bibles distributed in isolated areas, 400 went to homes that had never before had one.

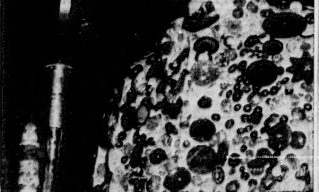

AMA Patrols Will Operate
Alberta Motor Association will operate motor cycle patrols on highways in the Edmonton area this summer, it was decided at a luncheon meeting in the Cornhill Hotel Tuesday.

Last year 1,500 motorists were helped by such patrols, resulting in 50 memberships for A.M.A., as well as considerable good will.

Patrols will be in operation on Wednesday afternoon, Saturday, Sunday and holidays, under supervision of A.M.A. safety patrol committee, of which A. A. Crawford is chairman.

Last month the association claimed 1,500 members. Walter C. Gorman, secretary-manager, reported that membership is now like that of which 8,000 are associate members and 10,000 regular members.

A lettype service providing information on hotel accommodation and road conditions was proposed between Edmonton and Calgary.
